

All About Autism 2014/2015

RESOURCE LIST FOR PARENTS

Early Signs of Autism – Receiving a Diagnosis

- The Early Signs of Autism may appear quite young (6 -24 month of age) for some children. Recognizing these symptoms early will allow you to get a diagnosis and access interventions earlier. Don't wait and see! Speak to your child's physician about the early signs of a social communication delay or risk for Autism. Early signs include:
 - No big smiles or warm, joyful expressions by 6 months
 - No back-and-forth sharing of sounds, smiles or other facial expressions by 9 months
 - No babbling by 12 months
 - No back-and-forth gestures such as pointing, showing, reaching or waving by 12 months
 - No words by 16 months
 - No meaningful, two-word phrases (not including imitating or repeating) by 24 months
 - Any loss of speech, babbling or social skills at any age
 - Unusual visual fixations, strong and persistent examination of objects
 - Abnormal repetitive behaviors
- The Early Signs Clinic is a partnership with Children First and The Summit Centre for Preschool Children with Autism, providing Psychological Assessments for toddlers and young children under 30 months, to obtain(or rule out) a diagnosis of Autism. Your child can be referred to the Early Signs Clinic by your child's doctor. Preschool Speech/Language Pathologists from John McGivney Children's Centre or Talk 2 Me-Connections Early Years Family Learning Centre may also refer your child, following a speech/language assessment, to the Early Signs Clinic for an assessment with your consent. There is no charge for these assessments.
- Children age 6-18 years of age may be referred to Hotel-Dieu Grace Healthcare Regional Children's Centre for a diagnostic assessment.
- You may choose to pay for a private assessment. A diagnosis of Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) can only be made by a Psychologist or specially trained doctor. You should investigate the qualifications of anyone providing private assessments or treatment.
- When your child receives a Psychological Assessment be sure to request a written diagnosis. Many intervention programs require a written diagnosis or report in order to put your child on a waiting list.
- Request a referral to a Pediatrician to get a full medical evaluation to rule out any medical causes for the delays. Many medical conditions may co-exist with or look similar to an Autism Spectrum Disorder.
